

CROOKED CREEK

The Crooked Creek Tree Farm, purchased in 1980, was used by the Dunning family and others as a place of seclusion, serenity and meditation. Ed Dunning constructed a house, planted over 30,000 trees and also built a pole barn with the help of others. The property was used as an evergreen farm to help support their mission as well as raising money for mission trips for high school seniors.

The family's land management philosophy was grounded on being good stewards of God's creation. This beautiful wooded property was donated by Mary Dunning to Vineyard Columbus to bless many for years to come.

The Retreat Center has been renovated to help leaders and small groups refresh, reflect and relate.
